

Dear Customer,

The detailing industry has some unique circumstances that require explanation and mutual agreement.

The process of detailing; washing waxing buffing carpet cleaning engine bay cleaning and many other processes used in cleaning vehicles all have risks - some of which are things we do not support including their similar related conditions, these are examples of situations where we need mutual clarification before we begin work on your vehicle.

You, the customer, need to be aware of these circumstances and that we do not assume any current or future liability for support or reimbursement of costs due to these directly related conditions such as harm to paint, wheels, interior carpet and upholstery, check engine and airbag lights, removal of mirrors, seats, door panels and such – some of these require dealer reset procedures and we are not responsible for them or their reimbursement.

Although we make every effort to be careful and use industry standards and equipment, sometimes their use (either by us or your request) will create blemishes or issues as described above. For these reasons, and since car history is unknown, we cannot assume any risk, cost or liability for this condition.

Before we will begin work on the vehicle please read and sign below.

Please sign and date below confirming you understand these concerns and that Sun & Shade is not liable for support of these conditions.
